

Caught In The Web

Question of the Week: What is your best advice for surviving Beach Week?

By Maria Ribas and Susie Compton

"Wear sunscreen."
- Katy Groover, junior

"Go to Hot Diggity Dogs."
- Misha Gill, junior

"Engage in a game of flip cup with Yale international students."
- Carly Gorga, senior

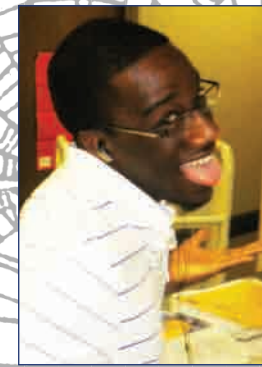

"Practice makes perfect."
- Andrew Greenspan, junior

"Get an inner tube and a floaty cup."
- Amelie LeBreton, senior

"Go to the Pike house."
- Matt Abatecola, junior

"Don't drink any juice; just drink alcohol."
- Keon Piper, senior

"I don't believe there's ever been anything decided in a meeting that wouldn't have been decided otherwise. That's why I don't go to meetings."

-Gary McDowell, professor of Leadership Studies

What Guster song are you?

BY SUSIE COMPTON

Take this quiz to find out which Guster song represents your personality, and then listen for it during the concert this Friday!

- If I could hang a banner of my choosing in the commons, it would say...
  - "[My name] is the coolest, sexiest person alive."
  - A political message I felt passionate about, dripping with sarcasm.
  - "Peace out homies. One week left."
  - "Life kind of sucks."
- My favorite meal at the pier is...
  - I like to place special orders (i.e. I get what I want, menu or not).
  - A garden burger (meat-eaters are murderers).
  - Nothing ... I'm graduating. Thank God I won't have to eat at the Pier anymore.
  - The special, because it takes the least thought and I'm always so confused as it is.
- When I open my mailbox, I normally see...
  - A plethora of package slips, signaling how loved I am.
  - Application to the Peace Corps, petitions to Congress, etc.
  - I live off campus.
  - Cold, dark emptiness.
- I'm majoring in...
  - I created my own major. Hello, you handpick all of your classes!
  - Medical Humanities. I want to change the world.
  - Business.
  - Psychology.

If you answered mostly As...
You are "Center of Attention," from "Lost and Gone Forever."

If you answered mostly Bs...
You are "G Major," from "Satellite: EP."

If you answered mostly Cs...
You are "I'm Through," from "Satellite: EP."

If you answered mostly Ds...
You are "One Man Wrecking Machine," from "Ganging Up On the Sun."

Dear Gabby,
I hate studying for finals. The library gets so freakishly crowded that I can't focus... even B2 is fully occupied. Is there anywhere else I can go to write a 10-page paper study for a Spanish exam, read a book I haven't started and stay awake without my life turning into an FM Entap?
Searching for a Book

Dear Searching,
You're in luck. I never study in the same place twice, so I've got quite a few secret nook suggestions! Seriously, this campus sets the record for number of random couch clusters, which are perfect for a comfy study area.
1. The third floor of Ryland, dubbed "The Great Hall" by the English department. Pro: Reminiscent of Hogwarts, you can't help but get your intellect flowing. Cons: Bad lighting, probably not inviting to non-A&S majors.
2. Someone else's dorm lounge. Pro: People will be so weirded out by seeing a stranger on their floor, they won't bother you. Con: A little bit socially awkward.
3. Any classroom on campus -- did you know they're unlocked 24/7? Pros: So many options, very spacious. Con: Could get creepy if you're alone.
4. The Law School. Pros: Lots of pretty views in the weird atrium area, super-serious library, inspiring air of academia. Be forewarned, the law students are territorial, so act like you already own the place. Cons: Stuff, tiny bathrooms.

Good luck on your finals!
Gabby

INANE SURVEYS:

BY MARIA RIBAS

BRAD FARWELL, MAIL SERVICES

- WHAT DO YOU DO WHEN YOU GET A SKETCHY-LOOKING PACKAGE?
  - SHAKE IT - I CAN TELL WHAT ANYTHING IS WITH A FEW JIGGLES.
  - IMMEDIATELY IMPOUND IT, JUST IN CASE.
  - SCAN IT WITH MY X-RAY VISION.
  - KICK IT AROUND, SEE IF IT BREAKS.
- HOW OFTEN DO YOU HEAR CREEPY INNUENDOS ABOUT "PACKAGES"?
  - EVERY FIVE MINUTES OR SO.
  - EVERY DAY ... FROM MY COWORKERS.
  - CONSTANTLY.
  - HEH HEH ... PACKAGES ...
- WHAT'S YOUR WEIRDEST POSTAL STORY?

Had a faculty member come by asking about some dead spiders coming from Canada that do an odd mating dance - it's on YouTube, look it up!!
- WHEN I'M NOT HOOKING YOU UP WITH PACKAGES I'M PROBABLY...
  - WORKING AT MY NIGHT JOB, AS A LOUNGE SINGER. @Legends every Fri. nite
  - SLASHING TIRES ON UPS TRUCKS.
  - USING MY X-RAY VISION IN INAPPROPRIATE WAYS.
  - DEVISING A GROUND-BREAKING WAY TO SORT PACKAGES BASED ON PSYCHIC INTUITION.
- WHAT'S YOUR DEEPEST, DARKEST SECRET?

The beard is fake!!

Suggestions for Caught in the Web? e-mail us!
mariaelisa.ribas@richmond.edu
susie.compton@richmond.edu